Message from Mr. Ohshiro

Expanded GOC Support and Exciting Sales Contests for Your Global Business!

Enagic is a worldwide family. Our global expansion has been driven by the thirst for healthy Kangen Water and a unique opportunity to earn extra income. This month, we are focused on global initiatives, the expansion of the Global Operations Center (GOC) and the launch of two exciting sales contests to support you and other Independent Distributors around the world.

Recently, I have been in San Diego building a second GOC to enable more worldwide sales order processing. Use GOC to grow your business! Please send your completed and signed forms for new machine, Ukon and E8PA orders to the GOC email in your country or region. GOC is a great resource that's available to you and it is helping us to become more efficient and responsive.

With the expansion of GOC, it is an amazing time to be an Independent Distributor, and the opportunity is even more exciting in September as we're hosting two global sales challenges!

Check the updated contest rankings by logging in to the Distributor Support Portal. If you and your team are competing, don't forget to cheer them on and stay focused on achieving your own sales goals for the rest of the month!

Our future is global, but we are always a family aligned around shared ideals and Kangen Water. Thank you for your dedication and don't forget to drink Kangen Water every day!

Change Your Life Story

6A2-3

Kiều Anh Truong

6A2-3 Kiều Anh Truong first experienced Kangen Water during a 2016 visit to a friend's house in Vancouver.

She recalls, "After I tried Kangen Water and listened to my friend explaining about a business opportunity with Enagic's unique way of paying commission and bonuses, which could give me a chance to achieve financial freedom and time freedom, I immediately registered as an Independent Distributor."

Kiều grew up in Hanoi. She never had the opportunity to attend college after completing high school because she had to stay home and take care of her elderly parents, but she's achieved plenty of success with her family and as an Independent Distributor.

Before entering the workforce as an Independent Distributor, she was a full-time mother to three children and was "always around the house cooking and taking care of the family." Kiều still enjoys fishing, cooking and spending time at the beach with her children when she isn't working.

"When I was a child, I was often taught by my parents to live honestly and love people," Kiều says. "Therefore, when I share Kangen Water, I always care for my clients with all my heart and soul, and consistently live up to my life principle, which gains trust from many people." Her first sales were to her mother and siblings in Vietnam, which motivated her to find more opportunities.

"I'm so grateful to have all the support from my uplines and many normal housewives on my team," she says. 6A2-4 Kim Oanh Vo has been a major mentor. "She has trained and coached me how to place sales in my organization and build the system correctly so that I can achieve 6A2-3," Kiều says. She also credits

6A4-5 Tan Nguyen and 6A3-6 Dang Nguyen for "supporting, coaching, and teaching every little step to reach this success."

"My goal is helping two of my downlines to become 6A2-3," Kiều says. "I will eventually become 6A2-4. My ultimate goals with Enagic are that I will be financially free, find time freedom, and that I can retire with this company."

To accomplish those goals, she hosts regular Zoom training sessions for downlines. She also schedules events so that her uplines can motivate and teach her downlines how to best lead demos and explain Enagic's patented 8-point compensation plan.

"I'm a very slow learner, but I'm passionate and taking action to achieve my goals," she says. "If a normal woman like me can do it, I strongly believe we all can do it together."

United States Distributor Profile

Diem La

6A2-5

6A2-5 Diem La was born and raised in Vinh Long, a poor, rural area in western Vietnam. Her father died when she was young and she was unable to finish high school. Diem had to take care of her mother and two younger brothers. When she was 24, Diem moved to the United States to pursue better opportunities. In 2004, she relocated to Richmond, Virginia, and managed to build a life for herself while helping to support her family.

"I started learning nail art, doing nails seven days a week and had a second job, going to nursing homes to cut nails for the elderly," Diem recalls. "I didn't have any money, I didn't have a degree, and I didn't know many people. Many times I was despised by others because I didn't speak English well." She didn't let all these different challenges stand in her way of achieving success.

A friend introduced Diem to Kangen Water in 2017. "At that time I only bought a machine for my family's use and never thought of doing business," she says. "I was very busy with my nail salon, and at the same time I was also a teacher in the nail industry for everyone, so I didn't have time to do anything extra." Eventually, after her mother endorsed Kangen Water, Diem researched Enagic, discovered the company's patented eight-point compensation plan online and saw Enagic as "completely different" from other direct selling businesses.

Diem previously participated in another direct selling business for over three years. "I worked very hard and spent a lot of time, effort and money, but in the end it was still unsuccessful, so I gave up," she says. "After comparing the Enagic business opportunity with the business I did before, I decided to give myself a chance to fulfill my dream. "I made a plan, set clear goals and focused on working two days a week." After seeing growth for a year, she went all-in.

Once Diem committed as an Independent Distributor, she made countless calls to share Kangen Water. It took until the 41st call before she made her first sale to John Nguyen. "He wanted to try it out for his family and also wanted to support me because we worked as nail teachers together for many years," Diem says.

"I don't mind other people's rejection," Diem says. "Every day I regularly share with 5 people. I have 35 people a week and I only need one person to give me an appointment to do the demo." It's a numbers game for Diem. "Day by day gives me stronger motivation that I have received a lot of thanks for the source of water that has brought back True Health to my friends and family all over the world. Besides that they also improve their finances. This also gives them more time with their families. I am very happy because I have my Kangen family all around in the world. Now every time I go anywhere people see me as a loved one."

Diem drew on previous direct selling experience to build successful business. “From the beginning building the system was like building one family,” Diem says. “The system must unite, love, care, support and wholeheartedly support the people below to help them succeed. Then I can be truly successful.”

Being part of a team is particularly helpful since she also still owns a nail salon and needs all the time and support she can get. Diem says, “I’ve taken advantage of every break, lunch or evening, when I get home or even my driving time and all my free time to share Kangen Water, recruiting new potential leaders, tracking, training, coaching and inviting all leaders and distributors to events to keep our system up and running.”

She singles out two Independent Distributors in particular. 6A3-6 Dang Nguyen “has always been with me to give me ideas and support me, coaching to build my team very strong and successful,” she says. 6A2-3 Jonathon Ly “helped support me with open training sessions for my team.”

“Success does not come naturally, but is due to the effort to forge and try every day,” she says. “I am very proud to be the first Vietnamese woman to achieve the highest position in the Vietnamese Kangen team globally, and the youngest leader at the rank of 6A2-5.”

“My goal now and in the future is to maximize support for the team to grow stronger,” Diem says. “I want to find a way to contribute, help, and give the values I have gained to others. Especially helping women all over the world know my success story. I hope to inspire them to have more motivation and strive to be more confident in themselves. Develop yourself and seize the opportunity.”

“I always had a desire to strive to get out of poverty to change lives for the better and also have the opportunity to help many people in the same situation as me,” she says. Diem started by making a difference with her own family. “My life now feels very happy and fulfilled because my loved ones in my family are all members and leaders,” Diem says. Husband Kevin Tang is 6A2-3, mother Binh Huynh is 6A2-3, brother Thanh La is 6A2, and brother Cuong La is 6A. “I am very proud to bring my whole family in,” she says.

When she isn’t working, Diem enjoys cooking food for her family using Kangen Water and vegetables she grows in her backyard garden. She often photographs the dishes and shares them on Facebook. Diem enjoys taking runs around her neighborhood. She also travels whenever possible to bond with her team. “We party with delicious Vietnamese food and sing to each other,” she says.

“To have the success like today is very emotional,” Diem says. “A sincere “Thank you” to Mrs. & Mr. Ohshiro who gave me the big opportunity that has completely changed my life. Also I want thank all my uplines who gave me the opportunity to know about Kangen Water. And I would like to say “thank you” to my team in America, Canada, Europe, Australia, Asia and Vietnam. To have the success like today is thanks to your love and support.”

Brazil Distributor Profile

Adiene Borges Campos 6A2-2

To say that 6A2-2 Adiene Borges Campos was born to work with water would not be a stretch. After all, her nickname, Morena das Aguas, means “Water Brunette.” She was also born in Itiquira, a town near Brazil’s second tallest waterfall with a name that means “clear water.” She now lives in Cuiabá, the capital of Mato Grosso, a state in west central Brazil, and alkaline, ionized water has been the focus for her career since 2009.

She’s currently an Independent Distributor and hydro therapist. Adiene authored “Family Health and Quality of Life through Alkaline and Ionized Water,” a project that reached thousands of readers. She also founded Água Viva Alkaline, a company that she describes as a “pioneer in the water treatment segment for better quality of life.” She even served on the International Water Committee with BPW-International. Adiene says, “My life’s mission is to help people live more and better through pure alkaline water.”

Adiene first learned about Kangen Water from Dr. Lair Ribeiro, her Fisiocool Quantum Health School professor. A friend referred her to an event in Cuiabá and after doing due diligence, she became an Independent Distributor to start 2016. “As soon as I discovered that the human body is 70% water, and as I consider myself Intelligent, I decided to have the best water in the world,” she says.

The road to 6A was not easy, but as she says, “From an early age, I was still a dreamy and fearless woman.” She eventually closed sales and recruited downlines by “negotiating, searching and finding the best option.” Sharing successful training tools and presentation methods with downlines and building contact lists and schedules all proved effective. Supporting team members gives Adiene great satisfaction. “I love helping people improve their lives and I want to leave a legacy,” she says. “I found in Enagic the opportunity for the lifestyle that I have always sought.”

Adiene sold her first Kangen Water machine to Rosa Nouchi, who is now 6A2, and she continues to generate regular sales. “I feel rewarded and happy to be the first Brazilian woman to reach 6A2-2,” she says. Adiene hopes to reach 6A2-3 by the end of 2021 and to achieve True Health. She says, “The secret of success is the constancy of purpose.”

“I have a busy schedule, but I enjoy the journey,” Adiene says. “I have a life full of virtues, prayer, and meditation. I enjoy my 9 grandchildren, picnicking, taking walks, playing games, volunteering, hiking, aerobics and beach foot volley.” She’s also been able to take trips as part of her lifestyle. “I changed my water! I’ve changed my life!” she says. “I am very grateful to Enagic! Together we’ll go around the world!”

Singapore Distributor Profile

Shirleen Grandgeorge 6A2

“Since I was young, I’ve enjoyed good food and having meaningful conversation with friends and family over a great meal,” 6A2 Shirleen Grandgeorge says. Her “dream came true” when she opened a Japanese restaurant in Singapore in 2001, but the experience wasn’t as expected. “My dream turned into a nightmare because I ended up working extremely long hours. Every day I was the first one in, last one out, no time freedom, working on weekends, working on Valentine’s Day, Mother’s Day, and over Christmas season, while everyone is enjoying their meal with friends and family... On my days off, I was simply too exhausted to do anything with my family. I realized sometimes your dream coming true might not be the best thing for you.”

Her life changed thanks to good friend Marianne Nar Puay Cher, who first told Shirleen about Enagic. After a “mind-blowing Kangen Water demo” she was convinced. “We need to drink water no matter what,” Shirleen says. “Given a choice, I would love to give my family the best water possible.” For her, Kangen Water’s “amazing technology” and “superior water quality” made it an “obvious choice.”

“Initially, I was reluctant 'to do the Enagic business as I was busy with my restaurant operation, so I just started to share water with friends and family.' Shirleen recalls. 'After trying the water, they asked me where can they buy the machine for their home. That prompted me to take a good look at the business plan. I am a businesswoman, so I am sensitive with numbers. When I saw the Enagic compensation plan video on YouTube, I was amazed how fair and generous their payout is to distributors... What really clicked for me is that the Kangen Water business has almost no overhead and needless to say, naturally there will be less stress. I can build a sustainable business that can give many people optimal health, it was a no brainer for me!” Shirleen became an Independent Distributor in 2015.

“My first sale was not intentional,” Shirleen says. “I was on the phone catching up with a friend. She asked me what’s new in my life and the first thing that came to mind is our new Kangen Water machine... I shared my experience with the water, told her it had helped me tremendously. After chatting for some time, she said to me, 'I want the same machine that you have, and voilà, my first Kangen Water machine sale.”

After working just one year as an Independent Distributor, she was able to earn a “decent income with just a fraction of the time spent in my restaurant.” She closed her restaurant after 16 years to focus on Enagic. “Now I enjoy the time freedom to do what really matters to me, which is spending quality time with love ones," she says.

In her spare time, Shirleen practices yoga to "relax and reconnect." She enjoys snorkeling, hiking, cycling, and sunbathing. Her family also participates in a weekly game night with friends. "Every day I wake up feeling excited because I am in control of my time," Shirleen says. "Best of all, I can do my favorite thing which is dining out any time any day with friends and family bonding over a great meal."

"I feel great about my future," Shirleen says, pointing to potential business growth and traveling the world, another passion. "I can even see myself helping my family and loved ones fulfill their dreams," she says. "To achieve more freedom while helping others achieve optimal health, it is the best thing anyone can ask for."

Shirleen isn't just focused on personal success. She's also working "to positively impact as many lives and families as possible," recognizing we're all connected.

"I am truly grateful that I have an extremely supportive husband, Bertrand, who prompted me to look at the business," Shirleen says. "He is very encouraging, gives me ideas and always challenges me to better myself. I am also thankful that through the Enagic business, I found some great friendships and I am surrounded by a bunch of lovely people including 6A2 Sin Jo Yeo, 6A2 Janet Wong, 6A2-2 Lily Sng and 6A2-3 Ellice Wong to name a few. We support each other in many ways beyond the business so we can be a better version of ourselves. Thank you Mr. and Mrs. Ohshiro for sharing your vision and mission of 'Sharing the Message of True Health with Compassion' with us!"

Malaysia Distributor Profile

Alfred Chan 6A2-4

Alfred Chan previously worked as a beauty sales manager, beautician, makeup artist, and wedding emcee, but none of those jobs provided him with financial stability. “My previous life was very tough,” he says. “I didn’t have enough money to continue my studies, and I didn’t have privileges.” To improve his situation, he turned to direct selling with hopes of climbing “from nothing to everything.” After “several challenging encounters” with other companies, Alfred’s prospects changed dramatically in 2015 when 6A2-5 Brice Chow Pak Leong visited his beauty salon. He introduced Alfred to Kangen Water. Brice’s “amazing demo” and Enagic’s “unique marketing plan” inspired Alfred to become an Independent Distributor. As he says, and as sales have shown, “Everyone needs good water.”

In 2015, Brice brought Alfred and other True Health 9.5 team members to visit Enagic’s factory in Osaka, Japan, including 6A6-4 Chin Shaw Fung, 6A3-3 Dorcas Boo, 6A3-3 Jenniffer Chin Chow Yuen, and 6A2-2 Chiang Kam Moi. After returning from this influential trip, Alfred was motivated and climbed up the ranks.

He became 6A within a year-and-a-half and just reached 6A2-4 in July despite a restrictive Movement Control Order (MCO) in Malaysia’s Klang Valley that the government put in place due to the pandemic. “Mr. Chin has led us to continue to engage in activities, and everyone’s continuous efforts and dedication has enabled me to be promoted,” he says.

The True Health 9.5 team first met at Enagic’s Malaysia 3-year-anniversary dinner at Kuala Lumpur Convention Centre. “They really inspired me,” Alfred says, thanking people like 6A5-4 Shaw Fung Chin and 6A6-4 Liesl Chin for hosting daily Zoom meetings, calling and sharing pertinent information, practicing demos, recruiting new members, and refining the marketing plan.

“The rule of success is to do simple things repeatedly and do it every day,” Alfred says. “Success is a habit, and failure is also a habit. Your habits can be replaced and groomed... Success in life all depends on our own efforts and determination. It's that easy!”

overseas, and an expanded “business horizon. He adds, “If I was still working for someone, I would not be able to enjoy these dreams.”

“I am blessed to be able to run the Kangen business with my family members, friends and a group of similar business goals-minded partners,” Alfred says. “I really want to thank again Mr. Ohshiro for giving us such a good platform and such a good entrepreneurial opportunity!” Being an Independent Distributor has provided Alfred with extra living expenses for

“I really have fun when I am working with my Kangen team,” Alfred says. “It is not fun for me without working!” Since Kangen Water has made such a big impact on his life, which has “become better and better,” this business has become his pleasure, though he does make time for travelling and shopping to relax.

family members, the chance to travel

“My short-term goal is helping more people into a Kangen Water career,” Alfred says. “My long-term goal is helping more and more downlines become 6A.” He plans to continue demonstrating “passion, helping and persistence” so more people have the opportunity to go “from zero to hero.”

Two Italian Independent Distributors Take E-bike Kangen Tour Across Europe

6A Davide Campanella and 6A Antonella Dapporto come from different Italian teams with different leaders, but they are working together with the same objective. Earlier this summer, they took an electronic bike tour across Europe to meet new people, commune with nature, experience personal growth, and to share Kangen Water and the Kangen philosophy, and the trip exceeded expectations.

Davide previously worked in nursing at a Roman hospital that dates to 1580. "I liked my job, but I developed the idea that it is more useful to deal with prevention and well-being than disease," he says. With that thought in mind, he committed to becoming an Independent Distributor after learning about Kangen Water from friend 6A2 Arturo Melillo, who is now his upline.

Antonella bought a K8 machine in 2016 because she wanted to help eliminate plastic water bottle waste. At the time, she was working for the Italian Ministry of Foreign Affairs, which required her to travel and relocate frequently, a major challenge with two children. 6A4 Rosanna Baldini, now her upline, suggested she become an Independent Distributor. "I didn't want to," Antonella says. "I had my nice steady job. Then I started drinking Kangen Water, feeling fit and talking about it and saw that people were all interested. I made my first sale to a doctor. I awakened my true nature in myself, namely that of helping people." Antonella started part-time before committing fully and now has "quality time for myself, for my children, to travel, and to carry out my true mission."

Davide and Antonella met during the lockdown when he hosted open training sessions. She participated with her team, and interest grew, and not just in Kangen Water. "We started doing online demos together and there was a spark between us," Antonella says. "Once the lockdown was over we didn't change our water, but we really changed our life."

Davide previously took other e-bike trips, but alone and without a Kangen Water machine.

“We wanted to take up this challenge together,” Antonella says. “Bringing lots of good water all over the world!” They brought a K8 machine along for the ride to stay well hydrated and to share with people they’d meet who showed interest. Their bicycles run on electricity, but as Antonella says, “our real fuel was water.”

YouTube channel and on a Facebook page they called “A Casa Kangen.”

One particularly memorable moment was, unsurprisingly, water related. “We were cycling under a scorching sun and we were sweating a lot,” Antonella recalls. “At one point we stopped dripping to look at the view and a truck started honking and shouting ‘Forza Italia’ and from the window he handed us two bottles of very cold water! We both thought, ‘Bottled water? To us?!’ It wasn’t possible, but we accepted not to be rude and we appreciated the gesture.”

Davide and Antonella started in Rimini, where Antonella lives, took the train to Ancona and grabbed a ship to Croatia. They traveled by e-bike and bus in Albania and Greece, used a folded, pedal-assisted bicycle and even took a raft. They documented their journey daily on their

“When we finally crossed the border into Greece - after various ‘bureaucratic’ issues - we continued pedaling under a scorching sun, exhausted and hot, but happy to be there,” Antonella says, “At one point we looked out onto a cliff and saw a crystalline and transparent sea calling us. We decided to stop and take this call...the warm and welcoming sea gave us back an optimistic strength just like the lifestyle we want to spread.”

Stories of Success

Your Skills are the Capital that Will Lead to Success

“Ohshiro and his wife spent much of their early adult life struggling through a series of failures, setbacks, and doors closing in their faces. They set themselves down in a tiny room in the Shinagawa area of Tokyo, without a penny to their name, and eked out an existence. Their only capital was themselves. What did they learn from their failures? Endurance, hope, ingenuity, tireless effort. And how to gamble, too. These qualities and skills became the capital that would lead them to success.”

Above is an excerpt from the book Quenching the Thirst for Global Success, the Success Story of Hironari Ohshiro. Toshio M. (2015) It is filled with incredible lessons, motivational stories and the actions that were taken to create Enagic. A must-read for distributors, it is available at
